

MIDDLE EASTERN STUDIES (MEIS-GA)

MEIS-GA 1005 Advanced Arabic I (4 Credits)

Typically offered Fall

The class is conducted in Modern Standard Arabic. The focus is on all four language skills: speaking, listening, reading and writing.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: No

MEIS-GA 1006 Advanced Arabic II (4 Credits)

Typically offered Spring

The class is conducted in Modern Standard Arabic. The focus is on all four language skills: speaking, listening, reading and writing.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: No

MEIS-GA 1010 The Language of the Quran (4 Credits)

This language course is designed to introduce students to classical, Quranic Arabic. Its vocabulary, style, structure, grammar as well as its centrality in modern? Arabic culture. The course will expose students to short Quranic verses, or suras, in order to acquire vocabulary, understand the construction of classical Arabic sentences, and examine the features of advanced grammar. In addition, students will be introduced to the different recitation styles of the Qur'an. It is a course that will help students pursue further studies of the Qur'an and exegesis, hadith(or the sayings and actions attributed to the Prophet Muhammad), and classical and medieval poetry and prose.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: No

MEIS-GA 1020 The Language of the Quran in Daily Life (2 Credits)

The Quran is the most holy and influential book in the Arab and Islamic worlds. The language of the Quran has permeated Arab culture, and a lot of its verses have influenced the daily language of the Arab world and have become part of the expressions used to discuss social life, family, economy, politics, ethics and moral values. This class is designed for students who have finished two years of Arabic or have previous exposure to the Quran to study examples of this Quranic influence on the daily Arabic used nowadays and examine how these verses also shape the culture and the thinking of Muslim communities. The class will focus on explaining the linguistic aspects of the verses and the context the verses are used in.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: No

MEIS-GA 1107 Advanced Urdu I (4 Credits)

Typically offered Fall

This course offers an overview of the culture of Urdu via authentic texts and is designed to improve students' advanced level reading as well as their written and oral discourse strategies in Urdu.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: Yes

MEIS-GA 1108 Advanced Urdu II (4 Credits)

Typically offered Spring

This course offers an overview of the culture of Urdu via authentic texts and is designed to improve students' advanced level reading as well as their written and oral discourse strategies in Urdu.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: Yes

MEIS-GA 1112 Media Arabic (4 Credits)

Typically offered Fall

There will be assigned readings of general nature for everyone from many sources including current articles from Arabic magazines, newspapers and journals. Each student according to interest, specialty and/or area of study will read selected materials in that area for oral presentations in class.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: Yes

MEIS-GA 1113 Media Arabic II (4 Credits)

Typically offered Spring

There will be assigned readings of general nature for everyone from many sources including current articles from Arabic magazines, newspapers and journals. Each student according to interest, specialty and/or area of study will read selected materials in that area for oral presentations in class.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: Yes

MEIS-GA 1114 Medieval Arabic Lit: (4 Credits)

Typically offered occasionally

Readings in selected authors from the 8th century to the 12th century

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: No

MEIS-GA 1115 Classical Arabic Poetry and Poetics (4 Credits)

Typically offered occasionally

Readings in selected poets from the 8th century to the 12th century.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: No

MEIS-GA 1117 Arabic Lit: Modern Prose & Poetry (4 Credits)

Typically offered occasionally

Introduction to the genres of modern Arabic prose and poetry, with readings in each.

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: No

MEIS-GA 1118 Colloquial Arabic: (4 Credits)

Typically offered Fall

This graduate course teaches a dialect of Arabic (Egyptian, Levantine and Gulf/Iraqi). By virtue of having already studied MSA for two years and adequately developed the language skills familiarity with the sound system, students can benefit from the fast pace of this interactive course, cover a lot of ground and learn the dialect rather quickly in just one semester

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: Yes

MEIS-GA 1119 Col Arabic Syro-Lebanese (4 Credits)

Typically offered Spring

This graduate course teaches a dialect of Arabic (Egyptian, Levantine and Gulf/Iraqi). By virtue of having already studied MSA for two years and adequately developed the language skills familiarity with the sound system, students can benefit from the fast pace of this interactive course, cover a lot of ground and learn the dialect rather quickly in just one semester

Grading: GSAS Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: Yes

MEIS-GA 1124 Recog/Anagnorisis in Arabic & European Narrat (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Investigates narrative epistemology (the themes and dynamic of knowledge, ignorance, and discovery) in Islamic and European narrative from the ancient world to the modern novel.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1126 Arabic Translation: Theories & Practices (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This course interrogates the relationship between concepts produced in Translation Studies and scholarship on translation in the Arab context. It dwells on key junctures in the history of translation in the Arab world, primarily the Nahda (or revival/rebirth) through texts by some of its signal figures, as well as recent scholarship on the subject. Workshop sessions allow students to undertake their own translation projects in relation to the theoretical texts assigned.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1200 Departmental Colloquium (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

In this course MEIS faculty explore issues of analytical paradigms, methods and sources across a range of disciplines and fields with MEIS and joint History/MEIS PhD program students.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1415 Advanced Persian Contemporary Lit (4 Credits)Typically offered Fall*

The main goal of this course is to increase student efficiency in reading modern fiction. Throughout the semester students will learn new reading techniques, expand their vocabulary, and thus improve their reading speed

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1416 Advanced Persian: (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

The main goal of this course is to increase student efficiency in reading modern fiction. Throughout the semester students will learn new reading techniques, expand their vocabulary, and thus improve their reading speed

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1514 Advanced Turkish: Mod Turkish Lit I (4 Credits)Typically offered Fall*

This is an introduction to the reading and discussion of a variety of genres such as stories, plays, poetry, news articles and opinion columns. Students are taught to read short stories by canonical and well-known writers of Turkish literature

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 1515 Adv Turkish: Modern Turkish Literature II (4 Credits)Typically offered Spring*

This is an introduction to the reading and discussion of a variety of genres such as stories, plays, poetry, news articles and opinion columns. Students are taught to read short stories by canonical and well-known writers of Turkish literature

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 1609 Intro to The Qur'An (4 Credits)Typically offered Fall*

A broad graduate-level survey of Qur'anic studies. Topics covered will include current scholarship on the canonization of the text and on its translation; broad readings in the Qur'anic text; and a broad survey of the medieval and modern exegetical literature and the scholarship addressing it. Required readings will be in English, with the option of supplementary sessions on Arabic readings for students who are able and interested.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1612 Topics in The Sociology of The Mod Middle East (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This graduate seminar focuses on different topics, theories, and debates related to modern and contemporary Middle Eastern and North African societies. These different topics courses are designed for graduate students in MEIS, NES, and social science and humanities programs.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 1618 Transnational Middle East (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This seminar asks students to consider how the Middle East region is both fashioned through translocal relationships and contributes to the making of multiple geographic scales— the global, imperial, national, urban, and more. The focus will be on the region after 1800 and will include scholarship from multiple disciplines and motivated by various theoretical and political debates.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1626 Cities of The Middle East (4 Credits)Typically offered Spring*

The aim of the course is to introduce some of the different ways in which scholars of different disciplines and theoretical inclinations have written and written about aspects of modernity and the urban in general. We look at foundational texts on Paris and Vienna in the 19th century as well as at work on modern cities in the Middle East, Malaysia and Indonesia. So we will read works focusing on cities and their transformations, the production and constitution of space and place, planning and power, colonial and post-colonial regimes of space, and everyday spatial practices in very different urban environments. We draw on research by geographers, political economists, historians, sociologists and anthropologists.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1640 History of The Mid East: 600-1200 (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

An overview of the political and cultural history of early Islam, from the rise of Islam through the Umayyad, Abbasid and Fatimid caliphates. Students will read primary sources written by Muslim religious and political elites as well as their Christian and Jewish subjects and neighbors.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1642 Hist of Mid East: 1750 - Present (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Survey of the history of the Middle East from 1750 to the present

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: No

MEIS-GA 1643 Literature of The Field: (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Designed exclusively to prepare joint History/MEIS PhD students for their exam in modern Middle Eastern history, with a focus on the late 18th and 19th centuries.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1644 Lit of The Field: Modern Middle East History II (4 Credits)Typically offered Spring*

Designed to prepare joint History/MEIS PhD students for their exam in modern Middle Eastern history, with a focus on the 20th century.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1654 Seminar in Middle Eastern History (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Topics in the history of the modern Middle East

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 1664 Egypt in Modern Times (4 Credits)Typically offered Fall and Spring*

This graduate colloquium explores a number of key issues in the history and historiography of Egypt from the eighteenth century down to the near present. Registration require instructor's permission

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1687 Prob & Meth in Mideast Studies (4 Credits)Typically offered Fall*

This is the gateway course for all incoming doctoral students in MEIS and the Joint History-MEIS program as well as MA students in the Near Eastern Studies Program. This course is required for all entering graduate students in these programs unless they receive a waiver from their Director of Graduate Studies. The course surveys the field of Middle East studies and explores epistemological, methodological, and theoretical challenges and debates.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1693 Palestine & the Politics of History (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Issues and debates in the history and historiography of modern Palestine/Israel.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1705 Introduction to Classical Islamic Texts (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This course introduces students to various genres of texts produced and circulated within the Islamic tradition.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1736 Arab Jews & The Writing of Memory (4 Credits)Typically offered Fall*

The seminar will focus on the writing of Arab-Jewish memory against the backdrop of the dislocation of Jews from Arab/Muslim spaces. The history of colonial partitions and the emergence of competing nationalisms have generated in their take intricate narratives of belonging, where memory is mobilized, performed, and staged from diverse, even opposite perspectives.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1760 Home and World: A Seminar on Modern Iranian Intellectual Trends (4 Credits)

This graduate seminar explores some of the central themes in modern Iranian intellectual history. The primary focus of the course will be the transnational circulation of intellectual discourses in contemporary Iran.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1770 Topics: (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Some recently offered topics include "Comparative Approaches to the Literatures of Africa, the ME and the Global South", "Al-Andalus", "Early Modern Empires", History, Fiction and Narrative", "Religion and Modernity", "Lived Islam", "Arab Cities in Literature", "Global Iranian Revolution, 1978-79", "Theorizing Mobility", "The Spirit of Bandung", "Religion and Politics in the Middle East", "Fascist Utopias: A Public Humanities Perspective", "Rethinking Cultural Analysis", "Gender, National, Empire in the Middle East and South Asia", "Translation Studies", "Social Life of Ethics", "Visual Culture, Capitalism and the Middle East: Entangled Frames of 'Civilization'", "Culture, Politics, and History in Middle East: Colonialism After Colonialism"; "Borders and Borderlands".

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 1807 Islam and Modernity: (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This graduate seminar will focus upon the broad question of how societies, predominantly influenced by Islamic traditions, might find a home in the modern world on their own terms. We will discuss the possibility of a critical re-thinking of certain modern conventional modes of thinking about modernity, secularism, and democracy. The class will examine notions of citizenship, religion, and globalization in societies that have been historically influenced by Islamic tradition and institutions.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1852 Islamic Law & Society (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This course explores the complex relationships between Islamic legal discourses and institutions and the social contexts that shape and are shaped by them. Focusing on the areas of property law, penal law, and ritual law, we will read scholarship using a range of methodologies to address instantiations of Islamic law in the premodern and contemporary periods.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1854 Women and Gender in Islamic Law (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Islamic law and its treatment of women in theory and practice

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 1860 Religion and Modernity (4 Credits)

This elective course explores the relationship between modernity and secularity considered in a broader historical perspective. It examines relationships between religion, politics, and law. The course will be useful for students of Middle Eastern studies, Islamic studies, religious studies.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: No

MEIS-GA 1999 Gender Nation & Empire in Mideast & South Asia (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Students will look at the role of nation, gender and empire in the Middle East and South Asia.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 2590 Middle Eastern Gov'T and Politics (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This graduate seminar focuses on different topics, theories, and debates related to political struggles, forms of governance, and social polices in the modern Middle East and North Africa. The course is designed for both graduate students in MEIS, NES, and social science programs.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 2679 Graduate Seminar: The Modern Near East (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This course explores key issues, historiographical debates and methods in the field of modern Middle Eastern history through critical examination of both older and recent scholarly work as well as current research.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 2725 Problems & Methods in Study of Islam (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This course provides an overview of the field of Islamic studies, focusing on critical examination of the evolving politics and assumptions of the field and on the yields and advantages of different approaches to the study of Islam. It is intended both for those who are specializing in Islamic studies and those interested in the ways in which various aspects of Islam have been conceptualized in the Western academy.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 2901 MA Thesis Research (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Course listing for MA thesis Prep (fall)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 2903 Masters Thesis Research (1-4 Credits)Typically offered Spring*

Course listing for MA thesis Prep (spring)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 2961 Directed Study in Middle East and Islamic Studies (4 Credits)Typically offered Fall*

Departmental content Directed Study

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 2962 Directed Study in Middle East History II (1-4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Departmental Joint (MEIS/History) Directed Study

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 2971 Dir Study in Arabic Lit (4 Credits)Typically offered Fall*

Directed Study for Arabic (Fall)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 2972 Dir Std/Arabic Lang I (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Directed Study for Arabic (Spring)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 2973 Directed Study in Arabic (1-4 Credits)Typically offered Fall*

Directed Study for Arabic (General)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 2997 Independent Study (1-4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Course listing for Independent Studies

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 3101 Directed Study Arabic Literature (1-3 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Course listing for DS Arabic Literature (Fall)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 3102 Directed Study Arabic Literature (1-3 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Course listing for DS Arabic Literature (Spring)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 3401 Directed Study: Persian Lit I (4 Credits)Typically offered Fall and Spring*

Directed Study for Persian (General)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 3403 Directed Study: Persian Language I (1-4 Credits)Typically offered Fall*

Directed Study for Persian (Fall)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 3404 Directed Study: Persian Language II (1-4 Credits)Typically offered Spring*

Directed Study for Persian (Spring)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 3501 Directed Study: Turkish Language (1-4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Directed Study for Turkish (General)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 3510 Turkish Readings (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Listing for Directed Readings in Turkish (Fall)

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: NoMEIS-GA 3801 Dissertation Research (1-4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Course listing for Dissertation Prospectus prep

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: Yes

MEIS-GA 3802 Dissertation Research (1-4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

Course listing for Dissertation Prospectus prep

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: YesMEIS-GA 9105 Advanced Arabic I (4 Credits)Typically offered occasionally*

This course focuses on training the Advanced learners of Arabic how to read authentic texts that revolve around different topics/themes. This is followed by analyzing the language of such texts, as well as working independently (whether individually, or in groups) to explore the topic/theme, then, write and present about it in class.

Grading: GSAS GradedRepeatable for additional credit: No