

SOCIAL SCIENCE (SS-GY)

SS-GY 6403 ENVIR STUDIES SEMINAR (3 Credits)

This seminar provides an opportunity to investigate environmental issues by focusing on a specific topic each year. The aim is to cultivate a more holistic understanding of human societies in their ecological settings.

Attention is given to such factors as weather, technology, population, social organization and political structure. All students are responsible for a seminar paper. Guest participants on special topics. | Prerequisite: PS 3324 or other appropriate environmental studies course or instructor's permission.

Grading: Grad Poly Graded

Repeatable for additional credit: No