

FINANCIAL AID

NYU Grossman Long Island School of Medicine is proud to award Full-Tuition Scholarships for the three-year accelerated MD program to all matriculated students who maintain satisfactory academic progress and professionalism standards, regardless of financial need or merit. Additional need-based Debt-Free Scholarships are also offered to those who financially qualify. The annual amount of need-based scholarship funding is determined using required student, parental, and spousal (if applicable) financial information from the CSS Profile and verified by the Office of Financial Aid.

To learn more about the types of financial aid, applying for financial aid, and financial education resources please visit the NYU Grossman Long Island School of Medicine's Financial Aid website (<https://medli.nyu.edu/education/md-degree/financial-aid/>).