

TUITION AND FEES

Registered students are assessed tuition and fees based on a variety of factors. The following criteria are used to determine the amount of tuition a student is assessed each semester:

- School or College within New York University
- Program
- Credit Hours Enrolled

NYU students are placed into one of the university's schools or colleges, based on their major or program. A student's level is defined as Undergraduate, Graduate or Professional (Medical, Dental or Law). The level of the courses is not a factor in how students are assessed. Students who register for classes outside of their home school are charged their home school rate. Rates for the Fall, Spring and Summer terms are listed below by year and school. January Term rates are based on the school offering the class.
