Undergraduate Admissions

New York University's Office of Undergraduate Admissions supports the application process for all undergraduate programs at NYU.

For additional information, including requirements, please visit the Undergraduate Admissions How to Apply page (<https://www.nyu.edu/admissions/undergraduate-admissions/how-to-apply.html>).

Graduate Admissions

Graduate admissions are administered by the respective schools offering each program. For detailed information on admissions requirements, prospective students are encouraged to refer to the specific program page (<https://bulletins.nyu.edu/programs/>) corresponding to their academic interest.

If you find yourself uncertain about which program aligns with your goals, the Office of Graduate Marketing and Admission Consulting (GMAC) is your central resource for uncovering all the opportunities available to you here—and for finding answers to your important questions. Feel free to reach out to GMAC for guidance on choosing the right graduate program for your academic and professional aspirations. For additional information, please see the NYU Graduate Admissions webpage (<https://www.nyu.edu/admissions/graduate-admissions.html>).
