POLICIES

The following links provide access to crucial academic policies that warrant attention. It is imperative to note that while these pages offer valuable information, they are not exhaustive in capturing all policies. The university reserves the right to modify these policies at any time without prior notice. Students are strongly advised to consult both the university-wide academic policies and their respective home school's bulletin and websites for a comprehensive understanding of applicable regulations and any updates that may occur. Please refer to your home school's bulletins for additional policies and specific details.
