

DRAMATIC LITERATURE, THEATRE HISTORY, AND CINEMA (BA)

Department Website (<http://as.nyu.edu/english/undergraduate/dramatic-literature.html>)

NYSED: 08083 HEGIS: 1007.00 CIP: 50.0501

Program Description

The program in dramatic literature offers students the opportunity to specialize in the critical, theoretical, literary, and historical aspects of theatre studies. In addition to courses offered each semester by the program's core faculty in the Department of English, students take classes on theatre, drama, and performance in departments and schools throughout NYU, including practice-based courses. Students engage with works and traditions of drama and theatre dating from ancient times to the present, and take advantage of New York's incomparably rich theatre landscape. An honors program is available for qualified students

Honors Program

The requirements for graduating with honors in the major in dramatic literature consist of:

- A 3.65 GPA, both overall and in the major.
- Completion of the two core courses DRLIT-UA 110 History of Drama & Theatre I, DRLIT-UA 111 by the time of application to the honors program.
- Enrollment for two consecutive terms in DRLIT-UA 925 and completion of a thesis (on a topic of the student's choice) under the direction of a faculty member.
- Concurrently with DRLIT-UA 925 : enrollment for two consecutive terms in DRLIT-UA 926 .

December graduates begin the concurrent DRLIT-UA 925 and DRLIT-UA 926 sequences in the spring term and complete them in the fall; May graduates begin the sequences in the fall and complete them in the spring. Applications and deadlines are available on the program's undergraduate website and at the program offices.

Dramatic literature majors pursuing this honors track may also satisfy the Honors Colloquium requirement by taking, with permission from the director of dramatic literature and the instructor, the Honors Seminar in the undergraduate Department of Drama at Tisch School of the Arts.

Admissions

New York University's Office of Undergraduate Admissions supports the application process for all undergraduate programs at NYU. 2

No more than five may be drawn from the areas of cinema and practical theatre combined.

Note: Majors and minors must register under the DRLIT-UA number for the courses listed below and not under cross-listed course numbers. Fulfillment of the College's expository writing requirement is a prerequisite to all dramatic literature courses.

General Information and Advisement

Students should consult the program's undergraduate website during pre-registration each term for a list of courses that satisfy the requirements outlined above and for more detailed descriptions of the particular courses offered in a given term. The director is available throughout the term, as well as during registration periods, to discuss students' educational and professional goals in general and the dramatic literature program in particular.

Student Publication

The Minetta Review

Students are invited to submit creative work in all literary genres and apply for membership on the staff of this literary magazine.

Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of program requirements, students are expected to have acquired:

1. An understanding of intersecting histories of global dramatic, theatrical, and performance forms from antiquity to the present.
2. A critical awareness of the methodologies of reading, watching, analysis, and interpretation that have defined theatre and performance studies.
3. An awareness and understanding of drama, theatre, and performance's fundamental interdependence with other media, cultural forms, and disciplines.
4. The ability to research and write about complex social and cultural topics with evidence-based rigor and argumentation for both academic and general audiences.

Policies

Policies Applying to the Major and Minor

Courses used to satisfy requirements for either the major or minor in dramatic literature, theatre history, and cinema may not be used to satisfy the requirements for any other major or minor. Independent study courses and internships do not count toward the minimum requirements for the major or minor. Transfer students must complete at least half of the required courses for the major and minor programs at the College. Please note that C is the lowest grade that may be counted toward the major or minor. Two-credit courses are not counted toward the major.
