

STUDIO ART/INTEGRATED DESIGN AND MEDIA (BFA/MS)

HEGIS: 1002.00 CIP: 50.0702
 HEGIS: 0605.00 CIP: 11.0103

Program Description

This dual degree option offers currently enrolled students in the BFA program in Studio Art (<https://bulletins.nyu.edu/undergraduate/culture-education-human-development/programs/studio-art-bfa/>) to earn both a BFA and a Master of Science degree in Integrated Design and Media (IDM) (<https://bulletins.nyu.edu/graduate/engineering/programs/integrated-design-media-ms/>) from the Tandon School of Engineering in as little as five years.

BFA students may complete up to 12 graduate credits toward the MS beginning as early as their junior year.

Upon completion of the bachelor's degree, students advance to the remaining master of science courses and fulfill the requirements for the MS in Integrated Design and Media.

BFA majors interested in this option meet with their undergraduate advisor and apply through an internal application process.

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the dual degree, students will meet the learning outcomes of both the BFA in Studio Art degree and the MS in Integrated Design and Media degree.

Policies

Program Policies

See the BFA in Studio Art (<https://bulletins.nyu.edu/undergraduate/culture-education-human-development/programs/studio-art-bfa/#policiestext>) for program-specific and School policies.

See the MS in Integrated Design and Media (<https://bulletins.nyu.edu/graduate/engineering/programs/integrated-design-media-ms/#policiestext>) for program-specific and School policies.

BFA students in the dual degree program may not take more than 12 credits toward graduate study while enrolled as an undergraduate.

NYU Policies

University-wide policies can be found on the New York University Policy pages (<https://bulletins.nyu.edu/nyu/policies/>).
