

PSYCHOANALYSIS AND THE HUMANITIES (MINOR)

Program Description

The Psychoanalysis and the Humanities minor is designed to provide an interdisciplinary focus on the potential uses of psychoanalysis to study and research human behavior, the arts, contemporary culture, politics, and more. Students will have the opportunity to study psychoanalysis in relation to any number of other fields or approaches, including semiotics, literature, history, film studies, gender and sexuality.

This minor is based on an inter-school collaboration between the Gallatin School and CAS (Department of Comparative Literature) and does not restrict students in any major, school, or program.

Applying for the Minor

Students can apply for the minor in Psychoanalysis and the Humanities on Albert in the Student Center by navigating to the Academics tab and selecting "Minor Application."

Program Requirements

The minor requires the completion of 20 credits, comprised of one required course and four electives. A minimum grade of C is required in both the required course and the electives to count towards the minor. Courses taken pass/fail will not count towards the minor. The required course is not a prerequisite of the elective courses. All courses may be taken in any order. Please check Albert and departmental websites for course availability by semester, meeting times, and prerequisites. More information is available on the Minor in Psychoanalysis and the Humanities (<https://gallatin.nyu.edu/about/bulletin/undergrad/cross-school/psychoanalysis-and-the-humanities.html#courses>) web page.
